Actions Speak Louder: Reflecting on Character Choices

Directions:

Think about a moment in your read-aloud when a character made an important choice that affected others. Use the space below to write or draw your ideas for each question.

1. What did the character do?

(Describe or draw the character's action.)

2. How did that choice affect others?

(Show or explain how the action made someone else feel or what it changed in the story.)

3. What would you have done?

(Write or draw what choice you might have made if you were in the story.)
