

Visualize

Find a spot in your book where the author describes the way a character looks. What words help you visualize the character?

Visualize

Find a spot in your book where the author describes a setting. What words help you visualize the setting?

Visualize

Tell about the mental images you had while reading today. Did the author make it easy for you to visualize? Why or why not?

Visualize

Make a comic strip showing the main events of your book.

Visualize

Name 5 words that helped you visualize. What do the words have in common? Why were these words helpful?

Visualize

How does visualizing help you to be a better reader?

Visualize

Draw a picture of one of the characters in your book. Label the character using details from the text.

Visualize

Draw a picture of one of the settings in your book. Label the setting using details from the text.

Visualize

Pretend that your book was made into a movie. Which actor or actress should play the main character? Why do you think so?

Visualize

You can use your 5 senses to visualize. Name places in your book where knowing how something looks, tastes, feels, smells, or sounds helped you.

Visualize

How did your mental images compare to the illustrations in your book?

Visualize

How did your connections with the book help you to visualize? Give an example.

"I already knew about _____ so I could visualize _____."

Visualize

Find a place in the book where a character felt happy. How does the character look? What do you see in your mind?

Visualize

How does the author help you visualize a series of events?

Visualize

What is the difference between making a mental image and making a movie in your mind? Do you make more mental images or more movies in your mind?

Visualize

Use 10 words or less to explain why visualizing is a smart strategy to use as a reader.

Visualize

What other reading comprehension strategies do you use when you visualize? Why do these strategies work well together?

Visualize

Choose a scene from the book. Draw a picture of the scene to illustrate your mental image. Write a caption to summarize the scene.

