A School Has Feelings Too!

Compare your first day feelings with your school's

Directions:

In School's First Day of School, you learned that even the school had feelings! It was nervous, curious, and unsure—just like the students.

Now it's your turn to imagine how your real school might have felt on the first day, and compare it with how you felt. Use words and draw an emoji in each of the circles to show the feelings you and your school had on the first day.
